Our children can no longer wait!

In Australia, 761,000 children live below the poverty line. Kids growing up in poverty often go to bed or school hungry. They can feel left out if they can't join a local sport team or go on school camps. They may be living in an overcrowded home where there's no quiet place to do homework and they worry about their parents. Research shows that child poverty isn't just about not having enough to eat and a secure home. A lack of money limits children and young people's lives and learning and seeps into other aspects of their life. Children at the forefront of the housing crisis are often frequently moving due to high rents, which disrupts school and friendships.

The Valuing Children initiative is taking action calling on all Governments, state and federal, to legislate an end to child poverty. This is an opportunity to impact children's lives positively and you can contribute to an Australia where every child is provided with the support needed to thrive and shape a better tomorrow.

You cannot end child poverty without addressing 'non-material' poverty for children. And you can't end all poverty, without addressing child poverty.
